

Tomorrow's Dust

Tame Impala

There's no use trying to relate to that old song
And no use trying to debate that they've got it wrong
There's no use pining for love when you're on your own
And no use crying outside if nobody's home
There's no use flying to the moon if they won't believe
So why do I go on, on repeat?
I was blind by your memory
Like it's someone else, like it wasn't me
And a second chance I'll be better impressed
And the day will come and then it will pass
What do you want when I say I won't?
And though I try not to say what's going on
And in the air of today is tomorrow's dust
There's no use trying to relate to that old song
And no use biding your time if the bell is tolled
I was blind by your memory
Like it's someone else, like it wasn't me
And a second chance I'll be more impressed
And the day will come and then it will pass
Sympathy for the fauna
Fragile life in the sauna
In the sea getting warmer
Endlessly round the corner
And though I try not to say
What's going on
And in the air of today
Is tomorrow's dust
