

Born In Winter

GOJIRA

before all things reborn again you learn the painful breath of time cold morning
stretches out
your arm to the mighty warmth of one golden sun
seems all
have gone insane
for gold
all was created
out of the night
we're all born
from the burst
of a star
the day you'll come to life you'll realize
expanding force of life
where you
belong
and in the winter cold,
with opened eyes
you'll find the strength
to fight
and stand upright
one day you'll walk the world and keep in mind
the heart you've been given in winter time
and through the bitter cold, with opened
eyes
you'll find the strength
to fight
and stand upright
