

The Light

Disturbed

Like an unsung melody
The truth is waiting there for you to find it
It's not a blight, but a remedy
A clear reminder of how it began
Deep inside your memory
Turned away as you struggle to find it
You heard the call as you walked away
A voice of calm from within the silence
And for what seemed an eternity
You waited, hoping it would call out again
In the shadow, reckoning
Then your fear seemed to keep you blinded
You held your guard as you walked away
When you think all is forsaken
Listen to me now
(all's not forsaken)
You need never feel broken again
Sometimes darkness
Can show you the light
An unforgivable tragedy
The answer isn't where you'd think you'd find it
Prepare yourself for the reckoning
For when your world seems to crumble again
Don't be afraid, don't turn away
You're the one who can redefine it
Don't let hope become a memory
Let the shadow permeate your mind and
Reveal the thoughts that were tucked away
So that the door can be open again
Within your darkest memories
Lies the answer, if you dare to find it
Don't let hope become a memory
When you think all is forsaken
Listen to me now
(all's not forsaken)
You need never feel broken again
Sometimes darkness
Can show you the light
Sickening the weakening
Don't let another somber pariah consume your soul
You need straightening, toughening
It takes an inner dark
To rekindle the fire burning in you
Ignite the fire within you
When you think all is forsaken

Listen to me now
(all's not forsaken)
You need never feel broken again
Sometimes darkness
Can show you the light Don't ignore
Listen to me now
(all's not forsaken)
You need never feel broken again
Sometimes, darkness
Can show you the light
