

Walk Into the Sun

Dirty Vegas

Lately I've been feeling different
Like I've come from outer space
And I know there's something missing
When it's you I can't replace((I've been drowning out the silence
From the words that people say
Now I know I could make a difference
If I could get inside your head))And as I walk into the sun
And as I stare across this ocean
And as I start a brand new day
Will my life ever be the same again?
Up ahead they're in the distance
Shadows coming through the haze
You're the only one who listens
To help me break loose from these chainsAnd as I walk into the sun
And as I stare across this ocean
And as I start a brand new day
Will my life ever be the same again?Same againAnd as I walk into the sun
And as I stare across this ocean
And as I start a brand new day
Will my life ever be the same again?
And as I walk into the sun
And as I stare across this ocean
And as I start a brand new day
Will my life ever be the same again?
((And as I walk into the sun
And as I stare across this ocean
And as I start a brand new day
Will my life ever be the same again?))
