Nothing Left

As I Lay Dying

This world was never worthy But how can I call it the unfaithful Every promise was fulfilledAs decay crawled from it's throat Like the dead rising from an open grave Like the dead rising from an open graveLips of splendor, tongue of deceit

All dying now as our fragile wrists hold only wasteLike those gasping for their last breath

We cannot hide, there's nothing left Like those gasping for their last breath We cannot hide, there's nothing left

Nothing leftIf all my sorrow has led me here

Then I would cry all of my tears

To have this chance, to have this chance again

To have this chance, to have this chanceAnd know there's more than this

And know there's more than you

Like those gasping for their last breath

We cannot hide, there's nothing left

Like those gasping for their last breath

We cannot hide, there's nothing left
