

Perfect Stranger

Dropkick Murphys

Yeah, schizophrenic nightmares
Sendin' shivers down my spine
I may be a little twisted
But I swear that my life is fine Well, I'm living with a perfect stranger
Is there anybody home?
I'm in the presence of a perfect stranger
But I find myself alone Well, I'm still working to make life better
Though I've fallen from God's grace
I'm standing still in a shattered mirror
Staring at somebody else's face
But I'm living with a perfect stranger
Is there anybody home?
I'm in the presence of a perfect stranger
But I find myself alone Well, I'm living with a perfect stranger
Is there anybody home?
In the presence of a perfect stranger
But I find myself alone Just when things are back on track
I sabotage myself
These are all certain telltale
Signs of my decaying mental health
Nobody's home
Nobody's home
Nobody's home
I wanna find myself alone
