

Till the Sun Turns Black

Ray LaMontagne

Can you see the young and pretty

Confident as cops

Blooming laughing in the shops

Till the sun turns black

Can you see the old and lonely

Walking through the park

Pushing grocery carts

Till the sun turns black

Can you see the corporate man

He's winning on the telephone

His possessions are his throne

Till the sun turns black

Can you see him in his lounge

Watching tv in the dark

Waiting for the spark

Till the sun turns black

Ooh ooh ooh ooh ooh

Ooo ooh we ooh ooh ooh ooh

Ooo ooh we who are we?

Can you see the working classes

Trudging through their days

Time goes slowly when you're only waiting

Till the sun turns black

Can you see the wise man simply

Living loving quietly

Every breath he takes eternity

Till the sun turns black
