

Lovin' You

Van Zant

Written by Al Anderson and Rivers Rutherford I've tried Tequila, tried Mary-Jane.

It got me no-where, it just drove me insane.
Single dumb an' stupid, baby, wasn't I a fool?
Ain't nothin' better than lovin' you.
Hey! I've meditated on a single drop of rain.
Heard one hand clappin': there was silence in my brain.
It showed me somethin', baby, I already knew:
Ain't nothin' better than lovin' you.
I been high a time or two.
Those days are done:
Now, you're the one I'm turned on to. (Whoo!)
I know, now, what I'm gonna do.
The master-plan for this old man is:
Lovin' you, lovin' you, lovin' you. God made your body, baby: he built it well.
If He made somethin' better then he kept it for himself.
When we get to Heaven, girl, I bet he'll tell you too:
Ain't nothin' better than lovin' you. I been high a time or two.
Those days are done:
Now, you're the one I'm turned on to.
I know, now, what I'm gonna do.
The master-plan for this old man is:
Lovin' you, lovin' you, lovin' you. Instrumental Break.
After tryin' everything,
I found my life's Venus. I been high a time or two.
Those days are done:
Now, you're the one I'm turned on to.
I know now, what I'm gonna do.
The master-plan for this old man is:
Lovin' you, lovin' you, lovin' you. I been high, yeah, a time or two.
Those days are done:
Now, you're the one, girl, I'm turned on to.
I know, now, what I'm gonna do.
The master-plan for this old man is:
Lovin' you, lovin' you,
Oh, lovin' you.

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>