

Marigold

Periphery

Flash through this life like a death grip, we're satisfied
It's the mundane I'm keeping out of sight, but still we are young
 We are young
 I'll steer the angels down
Keep 'em in the back room, shut the door, let go
And now he's there at the grey, gold dead bed of lies
 Pushing daisies while we still feel the sunshine
 We are young
 We are young
Sift through the marigolds to please our damaged souls
This place is holding me
 Jump through the rope let's make it credible
 When blood is all we see
 Life is impossible
Death is coming 'round like a hurricane swirling
 We're on the clock and the needle's turning
 The misery's killing me slowly
Give me a spark to work it out
You're just another one wandering endlessly on to the grave
 The signs of the times are upon us
 So we're grieving for tomorrow
 Sucking on the mother's dead tit
 I'm so low
 So low
 It's all right
 We learn it all before we go
 Snapped by the neck as we swallow
 Chin up
 I'm tying the rope
 Leaving all hollow
 This place is holding me
 Jump through the rope let's make it credible
 When blood is all we see
Life is impossible
Death is coming 'round like a hurricane swirling
 We're on the clock and the needle's turning fast
 The misery's killing me slowly
Give me a spark to work it out
No funeral, no pyre that's burning
 This body's dust in the wind that's hurling past
 The misery's killing me slowly
Give me a spark to work it out
I guess I will just leave things the way they are
This place is holding me (this place is holding me)
 Jump through the rope let's make it credible (credible)
 When blood is all we see
Life is impossible
Death is coming 'round like a hurricane swirling

We're on the clock and the needle's turning
The misery's killing me slowly
Give me a spark to work it out Death is coming 'round like a hurricane swirling
We're on the clock and the needle's turning fast
The misery's killing me slowly
Give me a spark to work it out No funeral, no pyre that's burning
This body's dust in the wind that's hurling past
The misery's killing me slowly
Give me a spark to work it out
