Death Grips

get up
                            beats 'bout waist deep
                             swallowed by beats
                                 i stay niche
                                   i stay—
                                    get up
                            beats 'bout waist deep
                             swallowed by beats
                                 i stay niche
                              i've seen footage
                                 what's that?
                                   can't tell
                               handheld dream
                                 shot in hell
                          deep space ghetto streets
                             show me somethin'
                              i ain't seen before
                        mystery 'hind that death door juke step electrocute the floor what's the science of flyin' that high?
                              got a no-no goin'
                                  one time!
                            creeps up behind me
                              over my shoulder
                        turn around, try to see, but it's nowhere
                               noided, noided
                            static on my blindside
          i've seen footage, i stay noided, i've seen footage, i stay-i've seen footage, i stay noided, i've seen footage, i stay-
          i've seen footage, i stay noided, i've seen footage, i stay-i've seen footage, i stay noided, i've seen footage, i stay-everybody's knowin' where ya think you're goin' ain't goin' nowhere satellite, handle that with a lead pipe
                              who captures life
                       who takes what's left, who stay on that next, already know my gillicutti, like i told you don't touch me
                               what's up with it
              (i stay noided) stimulation overload account for it
