you got the first mile made it trough but you're falling apart forget the distance that you've moved since you were at the start i bet you would do much better doing what you feel in you parts because you give and take and give all that you've got and it starts to break you(chorus) down - until you have broken X2i've got a bucket of water in case you catch on fire i'm at the pit stop waiting for you if you blowout or tire i've gotta tell you, you fight like a bull and that i truly admire that you give, take and give all that you've got and it starts to break you Chorus...no flag in sight yet but you've gotta keep moving if your wheels forsake you it'll surely break you in time you'll be sold and you might feel cold but don't forget that it's the path you've chosen...
Chorus X2
