Cottonwood Lullaby

Bob Weir

And the daylight is leaving The work is nearly done In the quiet of the evening There is a songGoodnight all you cowboys Well you're plainspun and rough But the angels appeared one time To folks such as usAnd goodnight to all you cowgirls Until we next meet You will sweeten our memories And dreams while we sleep And goodnight wide Wyoming If that's still where we are But if we've wandered into heaven Well Jackson Hole's not that farOh night the daylight stealing All you gold from the sky You're a poor thief you're leaving All your diamonds behind You're a poor thief you're leaving All your diamonds behindGoodnight all you cowboys We've got treasures enough 'Cause the angels appeared one time To those such as us Goodnight all you cowboys Oh you're plainspun and rough 'Cause the angels appeared one time To folks such as us Such as us
