The Dream's Dream (Remastered)

Television

The elevator called me up. She said you better start making sense. The stone was bleeding, whirling in the waltz. I went to see her majesty. The court had no suspense. She said, "Dream dreams the dreamer." I said it's not my fault.

Lyrics provided by http://www.1songlyrics.com/