

Invisible

Modest Mouse

Ah well listen, dancing shifter, got a strong cell phone arm
Well, you're not invisible inside your car
No matter what consuming sort of mission you're on Well, you're not invisible inside your car I feel absolutely mental, going to ramble and charge
Well, you're not invisible inside your car
No matter, you just breathe it like your flies in a jar
Yeah, you're not invisible I like the saline tea
Well, it's true that the moon can pull it back and forth away from me
I should just let it be
Well, it's true that the moon can pull it back and forth away from me
Well, it had to happen sometime going to shake like a charm
Well, we weren't invisible, not all along
No matter how many eons came and are gone
We were not invisible I like the saline tea
Well, it's true that the moon can pull it back and forth away from me
And there's the orphaned sea
We were never invisible, but that I guess we did not see Of course this all had been laid down way before we laid down for it all
Before we had a course, of course, of course this all had been laid down
Of course we laid down x6
I like the saline tea
Well, it's true that the moon can pull it back and forth away from me
And like the orphaned sea
We were never invisible, but that I guess we could not see We'll get crushed by the ocean but it will not get us wet x4

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>