

Macaulay McCulkin

The Fall of Troy

With a black heart undercover
Watching you sleep every night
"I wish you'd watch me too"
We're made for each other
Honey, if you only knew
Every night I'm watching you Shut up
You're talking too loud
For me to not listen
This operation's gotten old
The face I stole
The gun of lust shot through your soul
And all that's left is empty holes
With a black heart undercover
Watching you sleep every night
"I wish you'd watch me too"
We're made for each other
Honey, if you only knew
Every night I'm watching you Mom and dad can't help you anymore
Get in the car
We'll drive far to the end of the shore
Under the docks
On top of the rocks
Knock Knock Knock Knock
Why the fuck are the doors locked
Maybe she forgot about our talks
Or maybe I'm mistaken
But I swear to god
That she's not getting out of this
Without some kind of explanation
Oh, I'm straining on your patience
Maybe scaring you a little
Just because I came to visit
Doesn't mean you have to hide
I'll be waiting on the side of your house
With an empty body bag
And a loaded .45 And now you won't forget
My fucking name And now you won't forget
My fucking name You're tearing me up
Inside my mind
You walked in front
I ran behind

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>