

Raggedy Ann

Mindy Smith

These hand me downs I am wearing
Are worn at the knees, color faded... hey
All the little children are laughing.
I'm trying to find a reason to keep from cryin'...hey I'm just a little girl,
I'm Rageddy Ann
Making Believe I'm happy, hey... Rageddy Ann
Falling apart at the seams. The tears that I covered with patches
Red & yellow patterns, nothing i own matches, hey
Where I have them sewn with black stiches
Remain exposed to be soiled and tattered, hey.
I'm just a little girl
I'm Rageddy Ann
Making believe I'm happy, hey... Rageddy Ann
Falling apart at the seams...So when did I get so broken?
I wouldn't notice...
Everything just breaks away from me.
Hey! When did I get so broken?
I wouldn't notice...
Everything important leaving me.
Falling apart at the seams. All the busy people keep walking away
Like they can't see me or anything. hey
Everyday it gets a little harder to believe in magic & people, hey.
I'm just a little girl
I'm Rageddy Ann
Making believe I'm happy, hey... Rageddy Ann.
Falling apart at the seams.

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>