

The Interview

AFI

Forever waiting for disaster
What David calls servant and master
Will you play it too?
As this displacement begs for water
Swimming, bathing, drowning in sorrow
Scream with me I crawl across this cracked expansion
I'll be buried soon
Beneath the sand with pure intentions
Wanting something, someone to follow
For a change, I'll refrain
From hiding all of me from you
Here's my lullaby
Pray for rain, lose your name
And watch all your dreams fall through
Hush now, don't you cry
I swoon upon my knees come crashing
Will you bury me?
Today, this small favor I'm asking
Hold me, you may drop me tomorrow
For a change, I'll refrain
From hiding all of me from you
Here's my lullaby
Pray for rain, lose your name
And watch all your dreams fall through
Hush now
For a change, I'll refrain
From hiding all of me from you
Pray for rain, lose your name
And watch all your dreams fall through
Here's my lullaby
Hush now, don't you cry
Calm down, come down, cold resides with me
I flee to, I flee to december underground, as you exhale
I breathe in and sink into the water underground
And I'll grow pale without you

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>