The Rising Tide

Sunny Day Real Estate

Color your skin with gold and the violence remains

Cover your eyes with rose but the stain remains

Will you escape your life with all the walls you build?

Smother your will and lead you into fasion...Morning comes in the dream before we rise

When we linger side by side

It's my heart that speaks this time: We will ride the rising tideColor your skin with gold and the violence remains

Cover your eyes with rose but the stain remains
Will you repair your life with all the holes you fill?

Smother your will and drain you of your passion

Morning comes in the dream before we rise

When we linger side by side It's my heart that speaks this time:

We will ride the rising tideColor your skin with gold and the violence remains

Cover your eyes with rose but the stain remains Will you defend your life and all the hope you feel?

Or smother your will and lead you into fasion...

Morning comes in the dream before we rise

When we linger side by side It's my heart that speaks this time:

We will ride the rising tide

(...outside)

Lyrics provided by http://www.1songlyrics.com/