Her Eyes

Pat Monahan

She's not afraid
She just likes to use her night light
When she gets paid

True religion gets it all if they fit rightShe's a little bit manic, completely organic

Doesn't panic for the most part

She's old enough to know

And young enough not to say noTo any chance that she gets

For home plate tickets to see the Mets

Like everybody, she's in over her head

Dreads Feds, Grateful Dead, and doesn't take medsShe's a Gemini-Capricorn

Thinks all men are addicted to porn

I don't agree with her half the time

But damn, I'm glad she's mine

Her eyes, that's where hope lies

That's where blue skies meet the sunrise

Her eyes, that's where I go

When I go homeShe got the kinda strength

That every man wishes he had

She loved Michael Jackson

Up until he made 'Bad'Tells me that she lived about a hundred lives

Scares me to death when she thinks and drives

Says cowboy hats make her look fat

And I'm so glad she's mineHer eyes, that's where hope lies

That's where blue skies meet the sunrise

Her eyes, that's where I go

When I go home

She doesn't know the word 'Impossible'

Don't care where I've been

And doesn't care where we're goin' to

She takes me as I am and that ain't easy

She's beautiful, so beautiful And sometimes I think she's truly crazy

And I love itHer eyes, that's where hope lies

That's where blue skies always meet the sunrise

Her eyes, that's where I go

When I go homeHer eyes, that's where hope lies

That's where blue skies always meet the sunrise

Her eyes, that's where I go

When I go homeShe's not afraid

She just likes to use her night light
