

Wake Up

The Dangerous Summer

I came to your house to get you out of all this shit that held you down and ive been using my whole world to help you change that, aroundi know that i need you to help my mind pull through with everything that happened and i cant stop anything at all but i can make it all go fasterso speed it up, speed it up dont drag it out
and in the night
you will find what im all about;
its more than just a phone call asking how the weathers been i hear its nice
i heard the news
but i really wish it'd rain.
to stop the day, to hold me back God, i really hope you stay cause all my friends, i just hate but i know things are gunna change and everything will finally make sense yeah, things will finally make senseso when i wake up ill be bringing things to peace with all my strength.
you know that way things change when music takes up my life, and i just want to hear you, cause i know just how it feelsill sell you short, and stay away but god knows some how this will work out because im not tired of writing songs no im not tired i need you so bad
i hear its nice
i head the news
but i really wish it'd rain.
to stop the day, to hold me back
God, i really hope you stay
cause all my friends, i just hate
but i know things are gunna change
and everything will finally make sense yeah, things will finally make senseso speed it up, speed it up dont drag it out
and in the night
you will find what im all about;
its more than just a phone call asking how the weathers been [x2]

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>