

October Song

Amy Winehouse

Today, my bird flew away
Gone to find her big blue jay
Starlight, before she took flight
I sung a lullaby of bird land every night I sung a lullaby every night
Sung for my Ava every night
Ava was the morning, now she's gone
She's reborn like Sarah Vaughan In the sanctuary she has found
Birds surround her sweet sound
And Ava flies in paradise
And Ava flies in paradise
With dread, I woke in my bed
To shooting pains up in my head
Lovebird, my beautiful bird
Spoke until one day she couldn't be heard She spoke until one day she couldn't be heard
She just stopped singing
Ava was the morning, now she's gone
She's reborn like Sarah Vaughan In the sanctuary she has found
Birds surround her sweet sound
And Ava flies in paradise
And Ava flies in paradise
Ava was the morning, now she's gone
She's reborn like Sarah Vaughan
In the sanctuary she has found
Birds surround her sweet sound And Ava flies in paradise
And Ava flies in paradise
She flies in paradise

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>