Sometimes

Nine Days

Shadows they fall On the stage of your own life Trailing behind footsteps There's comfort in ghosts Who are no longer with you Hiding behind your stepsI let you down You've lost your taste I'm losing ground I fall from grace Well just listen Sometimes You gotta set free what you love Just to bring it back Would you ever lose me? Would you ever let go for that? And if the love is real You gotta let yourself go Just to bring it back, sometimes Just to bring it backHiding inside my asylum I'm always hanging on by a thread I can't expect you to respect me Until I've learned to respect myselfI let you down You've lost your taste I'm losing ground I fall from grace Well just listen Sometimes You gotta set free what you love Just to bring it back Would you ever lose me? Would you ever let go for that? And if the love is real You gotta let yourself go Just to bring it back, sometimes Just to bring it back The love you're bringing backI let you down You've lost your taste I'm losing ground I fall from grace Well just listen Sometimes Sometimes

SometimesYou gotta set free what you love

Just to bring it back

Would you ever lose me?

Would you ever let go for that?

And if the love is real

You gotta let yourself go

Just to bring it back, sometimes

Just to bring it back

The love you're bringing backYou gotta set free what you love

Just to bring it back

Would you ever lose me?

Would you ever lose me?
Would you ever let go for that?
And if the love is real
You gotta let yourself go
Just to bring it back, sometimes
Just to bring it back
The love you're bringing back
