

Horses in the Sky

The Sound of Animals Fighting

(Sanskrit)After all, they made them robed
Repeating all, to live in her wallSomething to show me a change
You're wearing a mask from the night before
She's going places she should have never been
She should have never beenAfter all, they made them robed
Repeating all, to live in her wall
Something to show me a change
You're wearing a mask from the night before
She's going places she should have never been
She should have never beenSomething to show me a change
You're wearing a mask from the night before
She's going places she should have never been
She should have never been
Something to show me a change
You're wearing a mask from the night before
She's going places she should have never been
She should have never been(I'll see you there tomorrow)

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>