

I Would Stay

The Dangerous Summer

If you could only keep me alive
I swear that somehow we could find this
Way to change my life
And help me sing this
Because the rain, it hit this town
And washed away half of my faith, but now I'm ready to feel
What i've been feeling And then the sun, it hit my face
And made me think of all the things that made me pray
Like when I stood up all this cocaine hit my heart
Then all the sudden I'm in love
Oh God, it's almost summer
I hope addiction took my heart because I'm Looking for a hook that could just
Hold me back from tearing out these speakers
It's not the sound that drowns me out
But all this doubt that broke me down
You were my friend, but now I'm taking you to hell If you could hold my hand
You could feel what I've been feeling I wrote this song for you
It's not the reasons that I left
It's just the ones that kept me hanging onto you So hold me down to Writing letters
Like the song said
I'm so much better
When I'm gone
You could take your time
Because i'm living off this antidote
If you could hold my hand
You could feel what I was feeling
When I wrote this song I wrote this song for you
(If you could only keep me from letting this go
If you could only keep me from singing this sound) But my pride, it killed this town
And remember what you said, but i'm still proud
And you could feel what I've been feeling
Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>