

Every Angle

Ani DiFranco

I'm imagining your frame
Every angle and every plane
And I'm imagining your smell
The one that mingled with mine
Once upon a time
Well thoughts of you
Are picketing my brain
And they refuse
To work such long hours with out rest
And unstable conditions at best
You know they're out there everyday
Holding up their signs
And thoughts of no other men but you
Can possibly get threw their picket lines
To enter into my mind
Into my mind, into my mind
Well I'm imagining your laugh again
The one that you save for you family
And your very close friends
And I'm imaging the way you say my name
I don't know when I'm gonna hear it again
Yu know my friends can't tell
My laughter from my cries
Someone tell this photograph of you
To let go of my eyes
I'm imagining your frame
Every angle and every plane
And I'm imaging your smell
And the way you say my name
Oh the way you say my
Oh the way you say my
Oh the way you say my name
Oh the way you say my
Oh the way you say my
Oh the way you say my name
