

Shaman

Amorphis

Mother wept for her son
She wept and sang
Anxiously pondered fate
His and her ownA sun's ray, in through the eye
Glimmered in the room of mind
Changing the woman shape
Sorrow fled her faceFrom the shaman into shaman
From the chimney a witch flew out
Shaman dived across the sky
Under her the woods and lakes
Till she saw the Northland gatesI've come for my son, where is my son?
I accept no lies, no falsehood or deception
I send you plagues unnumbered
Destruction upon your house
I lay to waste your treasure
I slay your fairest daughter
The queen of north told of the way
The road to river black
Impossible and incomplete
The path of no return
