

Coins

Tilly Valentine

[Verse 1]

You seem so awfully quiet
So why am I enjoying the silence?
Did you eat your words for breakfast?
Are you hungry for me to forget this? Somehow it's not easy sailing
In fact there's a little bit of waiting
Did you eat your words for breakfast?
Did you eat your words for breakfast? [Chorus]
Why are you dressed in that coat of anger?
When baby it's not your colour
Oh baby, it's just not your colour
And maybe you'll find a girl that
Doesn't care if you're honest
And will love you for the money in your wallet
Am I just another coin in the bottom of your pocket?
In the bottom of your pocket

[Verse 2]

You seem so suddenly nervous
Like someone owes you the world
And it looks like they can't afford it
'Cause they're wealthy in what's important And somehow you feel like a magnet
I try to pull away but can't resist
Am I just another coin lingering?
Is that why I'm so cosy in the depths of your pocket? [Chorus]
Why are you dressed in that coat of anger?
When baby it's not your colour
Oh baby, it's just not your colour
And maybe you'll find a girl that
Doesn't care if you're honest
And will love you for the money in your wallet
Am I just another coin in the bottom of your pocket?
In the bottom of your pocket, yeah

[Bridge]

A copper boy left you out in the city
I bet he told you he was made gold but really
He weighed you down 'til you're heavy, nothing out the ordinary [Chorus]
Why are you dressed in that coat of anger?
When baby it's not your colour
Oh baby, it's just not your colour
And maybe you'll find a girl that
Doesn't care if you're honest
And will love you for the money in your wallet

Am I just another coin in the bottom of your pocket?
In the bottom of your pocket, yeah, mmm
