

Wild Honey

Van Morrison & Joss Stone

Open your arms in the early mornin'
When the light comes shinin' through
Can't you hear my heart beat just for you?
It's beating so wild, honey
And light comes shinin'
Singin' my song and the band is playin'
And the music is tried and true
Can't you hear my heart beat just for you?
It's beating so wild, honey
And light comes shinin'
I'll be waiting for you, I'll be waiting here for me
Way up on the mountain, where the hillside rolls down to the sea
Tell me what's real, what I feel inside?
Any time of day or night will do it's alright
Can't you hear my heart beat just for you?
It's beating so wild, honey
And your light comes shining through
Tell me what's real what I feel inside
Any time of day or night will do it's alright
Can't you hear my heart beat just for you?
It's beating so wild, honey
And the light comes shining through
And the light and the light comes shining through
And the light and the light and the light and the light
Comes shining through
It's beating so wild, so wild, so wild, so wild, so wild
And the light comes shining through
And the light comes shining through
Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>