Hold Your Head Up (feat. Xperience)

Macklemore

Hold your head up, there's a light in the sky I know you're fed up, but you must try to survive Each moment's precious, don't let life pass you by

Keep focused, keep your eyes on the prizeHold your head up, see, there's a light in the sky

I know you're fed up, but you must try to survive

Each moment's precious, don't let life pass you by

Keep focused, keep your eyes on the prizeA friend of mine once told me

We have many paths in this journey

They act in different directions

So when you question don't be worried

It's not a wrong one

Beauty can be found in all of 'em

You'll meet people whose paths intersect but you don't know how long you'll walk with them

'Cause the truth is, and it's so hard, but you'll never know

How long we'll continue with our loved ones down this rugged road

The path veers and it's clear that we must steer alone

I've learned if you can't hold on to that moment that existed

Let it go

'Cause freedom is God

Freedom is acknowledging the mask you have on and possessing the strength to take it off Freedom is accepting every step of the path and when it's hard having faith in the ability to embrace That's where you are

And this is it

The same shit that we work towards

But go against in the same sense

My friend hit me to some game and truth unravelled, she said

"The brighter the light, the darker the shadow"

And since I'm on cliché terms, knowing is half the battle

But I don't know, so I just go with what was destined

Life can be a burden or a blessing

The choice is yours to be connected

It's there if you want it, you got it, now let it

Hold your head up, there's a light in the sky

I know you're fed up, but you must try to survive

Each moment's precious, don't let life pass you by

Keep focused, keep your eyes on the prizeHold your head up, see, there's a light in the sky

I know you're fed up, but you must try to survive

Each moment's precious, don't let life pass you by

Keep focused, keep your eyes on the prizeI feel like I have nothing to give right now

This is my trial

Tribulations and it must go down

But where's the up?

I'm stuck with the broken smile

No jokin' now, wantin' to grab a swish and smoke this out

The moment of a man choosing what path I will go down

Do I give in, give up, or get up and live right now?

With a split gut, pick myself up and spit my style

This is the only thing that can hold my ground

You're born into this world alone and alone you'll go out

All I have is myself and everyone else I doubt

You can only trust yourself and depend on the help of the pound

Inside the chest that beats with the breath of the now

No sunshine when she's gone, I can only see clouds

No homies can hold me down, the spirit's testing me now

But I can withstand this world, but it seems so foul

Flood of emotions, it's like I'm being held down to drown

Hell's right around the corner, but I can turn it around

You always have a choice, no matter the situation, you're not bound

To nothing, to no one

You're chosen for this job

This is your life, you can't escape this bitch when it's hard

Just know that it passes, but you'll collect scars

They never go away but they will make you who you are

This is a beautiful struggle, I share it in song 'cause

I can't control this, remember

The moment's beyond us

Hold your head up, there's a light in the sky

I know you're fed up, but you must try to survive

Each moment's precious, don't let life pass you by

Keep focused, keep your eyes on the prizeHold your head up, see, there's a light in the sky

I know you're fed up, but you must try to survive

Each moment's precious, don't let life pass you by

Keep focused, keep your eyes on the prizeAnd all my people say

Woo woohoo, woo woohoo

Yeah

And all my people say

Woo woohoo, woo hoo

All my people say

Woo woohoo, woo woohoo

Yeah

And all my people say

Woo woohoo, woo hooC'mon

Hold your head up, see, there's a light in the sky

I know you're fed up, but you must try to survive

Each moment's precious, don't let life pass you by

Keep focused, keep your eyes on the prizeOne more time!

Hold your head up, see, there's a light in the sky

I know you're fed up, but you must try to survive

Each moment's precious, don't let life pass you by

Keep focused, keep your eyes on the prize

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by http://www.1songlyrics.com/