

Waking Up

SOJA

Its a real strange world.
Sometimes it feels like its not my world
But its the only world I got
Or maybe, maybe its different now
Different now than it used to be
I dont know, I cant rememberCuz you can feel it in a summers breeze
Theres something in the trees
Some kind of long lost feeling
It kinda feels like theres something wrong
Something that we doin or not doin like were far gone
Another way that maybe we forgot or maybe we still need
And what if Im not remembering
Cuz I can feel it in a summers breeze
And it keeps callin me
So I'm singing another verse,?? Ill sing it again
And Im playing, bells start ringin again
And Im yelling hoping, Ill start thinking again
And chasing after your inborn concept
I catch a flick of it in the mirror
Cuz Im looking for you
And all I see is me but I know thats hardly true
The T.V. lies to me with green and blue
Turn it to black and still and still I can see youCuz you can feel it in a summers breeze
Theres something in the trees
Some kind of long lost feeling
It kinda feels like theres something wrong
Something that we doin or not doin like its far gone
Another way that maybe we forgot or maybe we still need
And what if Im not remembering
Cuz I can feel it in a summers breeze
And it keeps callin me
I try to search inside myself to find the right and the wrong
But its so complicated to know what to keep anymore
Its even harder to put into words to write in a song
And for some reason I cant move along
Cuz karma happens, doesnt matter what bible I got
And I can feel it in the air whether I read it or not
So Im continuing, searchin, watchin the road that I walk
Its on the tip of my tongue so I talkCuz you can feel it in a summers breeze
Theres something in the trees
Some kind of long lost feeling
It kinda feels like theres something wrong

Something that we doin or not doin and were far gone
Another way that maybe we forgot or maybe we still need
And what if Im not remembering
Cuz I can feel it in a summers breeze
And it keeps callin meI can remember in my mind
Way back before my time
A memory lived through my DNA line
And I can see it in design
That we could be just fine
Let history reveal the truths we need to find
But the memories are long gone
Forgot and chosen by the youths, so many years??
Bye bye Babylon so
So we sing it in this song
With hope to resurrect consciousness back through our daughters and our sonsCuz you can feel it in a summers breeze
Theres something in the trees
Some kind of long lost feeling
It kinda feels like theres something wrong
Something that we doin or not doin and were far gone
Another way that maybe we forgot or maybe we still need
And what if Im not remembering
Cuz I can feel it in a summers breeze
And it keeps callin meI get a feeling that I had in me before I could speak
And when I could, I couldnt tell people how it felt to me
Its like theres something in my heart that lets me know that Im free
But I dont ever know when that will be Thats if I name it at all
So if it even happens at all
Cuz Im related to a place Ive never been to or saw
Until that day Im just watchin, waitin, on this world that I walk
Its in the back of my mind all day long
