

Staying Gold

Brick + Mortar

I can't keep looking for the answer I can't keep hating on everything I know this is a pointless conversation I think I'm losing my mind who could I run to?
who can I speak to?
how could i let you know?
that's why I don't, I don't believe you i'm never coming home i wish I could believe like belief was is in my bones I could do it my own way not ever coming home but I don't think I believe you believe in staying gold
believe in staying gold
believe in staying gold
believe in staying gold, gold, gold I know that you don't got the answer still I open my eyes despite my moral degradation in the shadow of a moment in time who can I run to?
who can I speak to?
how could i let you know, that I need you now?
I got nothing now, I got nothing now, I got nothing now that's why I don't, I don't believe you
i'm never coming home
i wish I could believe like belief was is in my bones I could do it my own way not ever coming
home
but I don't think I believe you
believe in staying gold
believe in staying gold
believe in staying gold
believe in staying gold, gold, gold He never bothered to If God won't take you we'll find a better place to call home I don't, I don't believe you
i'm never coming home
i wish I could believe like belief was is in my bones I could do it my own way not ever coming
home
but I don't think I believe you believe in staying If God made love he also made pain and then he disappeared and never bothered to explain If I'm gonna die and you're goin' die at least I know the reason

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>