

Drifting

Sarah McLachlan

You've been gone so long
All that you know has been shuffled aside
As you bask in the glow
Of the beautiful strangers that whisper your name
Do they fill up the emptiness? Larger than life is your fiction
In a universe made up of one You have been drifting for so long
I know you don't want to come down
Somewhere below you there's people who love you
And they're ready for you to come home,
please come home
Walk in a room and the world stops to stare
Mesmerized all who are caught in the glare
Of the spotlight that follows wherever you go,
Does it light up the emptiness? Larger than life is your fiction
In a universe made up of one
You have been drifting for so long
I know you don't want to come down
Somewhere below you there's people who love you
And they're ready for you to come home
please come home

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>