

New World

Saigon Kick

Time people might say
Isn't it grand and sometimes unfair? Climb as high as you can Talk to the stars and kiss them for me Is this your world? So far away
All that you know, all gone away Life isn't it vague?
Haziness, thoughts of one's reason to live Fly so far away
Over the clouds and wait for me there
Is this your world? So far away
All that you know, all gone away, so far away As I watched the sun touch down
To the last point of a dark, pale, violent night
Endless thoughts flowed through my mind
Like faint rainbows caressing the skies
We are the new world love clan Crimes based on position
Not of a constant just a transition Love is what they say
Binding the last safe thing but steals it away
Is this your world? So far away
All that you know, all gone away Is this your world? So far away
All that you know, all gone away Is this your world?

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>