

And I Remember Every Kiss

Jens Lekman

There will be no kisses tonight
There will be no holding hands tonight
'Cause what is now wasn't there before and should not be I know I've broken some hearts, I understand
Some firecrackers blow up in your hand
And while fucked up, I have always tried to be true But I would never kiss anyone
Who doesn't burn me like the sun
And I remember every kiss
Like my first kiss
Like my first kiss
And I think back on that night, it was lovely
Wide awake in your daddy's 240
And I would like to keep that memory of that kiss
As it is Things get more complicated when you're older
Before you know it, you are somebody's soldier
You get a gun and you name it after a girlfriend
But I swear I'll never kiss anyone
Who doesn't burn me like the sun
And I will cherish every kiss
Like my first kiss
Like my first kiss
Like my first kiss
Like my first kiss
