Strife

Trivium

My anxiety's clawing Out from deep within me It burns within as my throat begins to cauterizeThis negativity's leeching Any shred of composure Rationale has decayed and left me bound in madnessI reach for calm I starve for a balance unknown This burden tortures me deep in my soulI've found that strife won't make the bleeding stop Nor will it take away the pain I feel like this search is all in vain And I struggle to find my way How I yearn for the silence For an end to the voices The calamity grows and the deafness leads to disarrayGuilt buries me alive In a coffin - criticized I shouldered the blame and dug this hole for me to lay inI reach for calm I starve for a balance unknown This burden tortures me deep in my soulI've found that strife won't make the bleeding stop Nor will it take away the pain I feel like this search is all in vain And I struggle to find my wayI've found that strife won't make the bleeding stop Nor will it take away the pain I feel like this search has been all in vain And I struggle to find my way I've found that strife won't make the bleeding stop Nor will it take away the pain I feel like this search is all in vain And I struggle to find my wayI've found that strife won't make the bleeding stop Nor will it take away the pain I feel like this search has been all in vain And I struggle to find my way

Lyrics provided by http://www.1songlyrics.com/