Diamonds

RaeLynn

There's one sittin' in a pawn shop glass counter Someone down in California traded it for a TV Another one in a pretty blue box Somewhere up in New York, white ribbon, Tiffany's One's catchin' dust in a drawer in a dresser At your grandma's house that's been there since 1953 But honestly A diamonds just a diamond Till you put it on the right left hand Love is just a word till you feel it and finally understand That some things don't mean anything Till one day they mean everything And you're flyin', smilin' and shinin' Kinda like diamonds Kinda like diamonds I ain't saying they aren't pretty and the way they feel Doesn't feel just like an answer to a little girls dream Ain't saying they ain't fun to show off to your friends And get the chills when you hear them scream But if your hearts not in it, forget it Cause a diamonds just a diamond Till you put it on the right left hand Love is just a word till you feel it and finally understand That some things don't mean anything Till one day they mean everything And you're flyin', smilin' and shinin' Kinda like diamonds Kinda like diamonds I don't need one just to hold on to I don't want one unless it comes with you Cause a diamonds just a diamond Till you put it on the right left hand Love is just a word till you feel it and finally understand That some things don't mean anything Till one day they mean everything

And you're flyin', smilin' and shinin'

Kinda like diamonds
