

Ecotone

Volbeat

I'm the wilderness that eats your bones you crossed the mark from your civil zone I might be narrow I might be wide we share the same line at the same time Alienized that's how I feel one foot here and another there and in between I'll find a name but what I see is all the same When you think you are alone I'm right by your side well they call me ecotone the cold boundary knife I'm the second when the lights go out caught in between there's no way out the edge effect that what it is but still in the center of the place Changing colors right in front of you even though we are one in two sharing the balance of the ecotone makes the alien breathe no more Well you thought you were alone but it was right there by your side still they call me the ecotone the boundary knife

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>