

What Did I Ever Come Here For

Brandi Carlile

I've been gone for so long and how I've missed you My heart was aching for home and then one night as i lay down, somewhere far from you I dreamt that i heard you call my name, but my mind was playing games.
I knew right then that i'd returned, to where i was before and I was so tired of being away that i just couldnt stay anymore.
What did i ever come here for
What did i ever come here for I thought if i showed up in the night, in my best disguise
There is a doorway and your porchlight, that you would look into my eyes and you would realize who i am, put your arms around me you're going to love me so much more, than you ever did before
What did i ever come here for
What did i ever come here for
It wasn't too long before i showed up at your door i'd been gone a thousand miles I didn't know how much more i could stand, if i could stand at all you said i looked like i'd been through world war two and my soul was worn right through I thought you would read my mind, i thought you'd ask me to stay you'd never turned me away like before but you closed the door anyway
What did i ever come here for
What did i ever come here for
What did i ever come here for
What did i ever come here for Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>