

Second 2 None (feat. Christine and the Queens)

Mura Masa

You broke my heart by staying
Under the Earth forsaken
They broke my heart by meaning
All of the words they said this evening
Outside the world is reaching
None of me is engaging
It broke my heart to see you
So tall and ready in the early morning
And what do they think they've done?
You'll never be second to them, you're second to none
And how can they think you've gone?
You'll never be second to them, you're second to none
You said this world was falling
Feet on the ground, then jumping
It used to live all through you
This sense of hope, remorse of belonging
Rocking my head right to you
Hard workers are still lied to
My point sent back for your sake
I know there are more wishes to make
And what do they think they've done?
You'll never be second to them, you're second to none
And how can they think you've gone?
You'll never be second to them, you're second to none
You'll never be second to them, you're second to none
Second to them, you're...
You'll never be second to them, you're second to none
You'll never be second to them, you're second to none

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>