Britney

Bebo Norman

Britney I'm sorry for the lies we told
We took you into our arms and then left you cold
Britney I'm sorry for this cruel, cruel world
We sell the beauty but destroy the girl
Britney I'm sorry for your broken heart
We stood aside and watched you fall apart
I'm sorry we told you fame would fill you up

And money moves the man so drink the cupI know love goes around the world we know

And you never see it coming back

You never see it coming back

I know love goes around the world we know

And you never see it coming back

But I can see it coming back for you

Yes coming back for you

Britney I'm sorry for the stones we throw

We tear you down just so we can watch the show

Britney I'm sorry for the words we say

We point the finger as you fall from graceI know love goes around the world we know

And you never see it coming back

You never see it coming back

And I know love goes around the world we know

And you never see it coming back

But I can see it coming back for youYeah, it's coming back for you,

Yeah, it's coming back for you,

Yeah, it's coming back for you, yeahBritney I do believe that love has come

Here for the broken

Here for the ones like us

I know love goes around the world we know

And you never see it coming back

You never see it coming back

And I know love goes around the world we know

And you never see it coming back

But I can see it coming backI know love goes around the world we know

And you never see it coming back

You never see it coming back

I can see it coming back for youIt's coming back for you... yeah

(Repeat)

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by http://www.1songlyrics.com/