

My Hindenberg

Ambrosia Parsley

What remains
It burst into flames and it's falling
And what of the crew
Are we just left here to wonder at you chasing thunder instead
Now your name's
Like rattling chains, my darling
You accident you
I still believe you'll come calling one night
You'll just crawl into bed
Oh no, copy paste again, I'm always on the run forever
And on the ground, we almost can't believe it
You're out of time and we're all out of place
You were never one to go and leave it
Somehow we've been left without a trace
Shoot out the light
It's over your head there swinging
What did you do
The blessed all nighter that made you feel lighter than air
It isn't right
You'll never be Margaret Dumont
Again for the night
I still believe you'll come calling one night
You'll just crawl into bed
And on the ground, we almost can't believe it
You're out of time and we're all out of place
You were never one to go and leave it
Somehow we've been left without a trace
I may just retire
My heart is a liar
And yours is right there
Three hundred feet in the air
And on the ground, we almost can't believe it
You're out of time and we're all out of place
You were never one to go and leave it
'Cause somehow we've been left without a trace

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>