

Break

Selah Sue

How long will it take,
before I make the big mistake
And, how long will it take before my eyes speak out the truth How hard will I break
When all the rules no longer stand
And thoughts are running out of air
How hard will I fall
When I can't deal with this at all
It's getting darker, break my wall but no one gets my point, at all And how long will it take Before the mask falls off my face
And how long will it take before my eyes speak out the truth
How hard will I break
When all the rules no longer stand
And thoughts are running out of air
And how hard will I fall
When I can't deal with this at all
It's getting darker, break my wall
but no one gets my point, at all
