

Demons (Philosophical Sessions)

Jacob Lee

My heart is weak
'Tear it down piece by piece
Leave me to think
Deep in my structure
I think I still love her
But I need some sleep
You're taken my breath away
Now I want to breathe
'Cause I cannot see, what you can see
So easily I thought my demons were almost defeated
But you took their side
And you pulled them to freedom
I kept your secrets and I thought
'That you would do the same
Leave me in peace
Caught in my memories
Lost underneath
Deep in my structure
I feel a rupture
'From where she should be
You're taken my breath from me
Now I want to breathe
'Cause I cannot see, what you can see
So easily I thought my demons were almost defeated
But you took their side
And you pulled them to freedom
'They know my secrets and won't let me go
Won't let me go
I thought my demons were almost defeated
But you took their side
And you pulled them to freedom
I kept your secrets and I thought that
You would do the same I thought my demons were almost defeated
But you took their side
And you pulled them to freedom
'They know my secrets and won't let me go
Won't let me go I thought my demons were almost defeated
But you took their side
And you pulled them to freedom
I kept your secrets and I thought that
You would do the same

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>