

I'm So Humble (feat. Adam Levine)

The Lonely Island

Watch out, Watch out! It's Connor! I've got it all
And I'm gettin' more
But I never fall
Beat 'em all
(cause you know) I'm so humble (I'm so humble) I'm so humble! I'm a superstar
I kick down the door
Got the money and the girls
And I'm also so humble I'm so humble! I'm so humble!
I'm so humble!
Bar none, I am the most humble-est
Number one at the top of the humble list
My apple crumble is by far the most crumble-est
But I act like it tastes bad outta humbleness The thing about me that's so impressive
Is how infrequently I mention all of my successes!
I poo-poo it when girls say that I should model
My belly's full from all the pride I swallow I'm the most courteous-bittable, hospitable Reverential, normal-ary Arnold Schwarzen-organary
I hate compliments put 'em in the mortuary
I'm so ordinary that it's truly quite extraordinary It's not a competition, but I'm winnin'
You won't hear me admit it
Because I'm so timid and submissive
I treat fat people like they were thin
Talk simple for the dumbos
I'm so humble
I'm not your normal definition of a rock star
I don't complain when my private jet is subpar
Ya mom's old, but I'll ask if she's your sister
People say I'm charming, bu-but I beg to differ I feel more humble than Dikembe Mutongo
After a stumble left him covered in a big pot o' gumbo
I guess in a way, bein' gracious is my weakness
People say I'm so unpretentious for a genius I've got it all
And I'm gettin' more
But I never fall
Beat 'em all
(cause you know) I'm so humble I say that with no ego! I'm so humble! It's just good manners! Say I'm a ten, but I'm an eight at best
"Plus two" says you. Not me, cause I'm so humble Mama raised me right! I'm so humble!
I'm so humble Watch out! Watch out!
