

Sunken-Eyed Girl

Mike Doughty

sunkeneyed girl in the sandwich shop ladle my soup from the kettle pot so swooning my self with the smolder looks parsing that gaze for the right intentions sunkeneyed girl don't let me go you're the world and you barely know so you are the drinks i drink and keep drinking and fall down stumble all of the things i think and keep thinking and lie down tremble all these fears are bound to fall sunkeneyed girl on the ludlow street junkieland once but they swept it up so singing my mind singing you're so sweet i need a bundle of dope just to numb it out 'cause i'm feeling so good that it hurts my skin feeling so good i could do myself in you are the drinks i drink and keep drinking and lay down tremble all of the blinks i blink and keep blinking and fall down stumble all these fears and bound to fall i'm no prize for you no trophy too
keep walking through
and i'm not worth a dime
i'll drag you down
don't waste your time sunkeneyed girl on delancey st bulletproof glass in the KFC so keep the man safe in his paper hat keep the wrong hands off the biscuit fortune sunkeneyed girl don't let me go you're the world and you barely know so i'm no prize for you
no trophy too
keep walking through
and i'm not worth a dime
i'll drag you down
don't waste your time

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>