Human Love

Dirty Vegas

You've waited for so long To be where you are and where you're coming from An you gave it all so much In return for human love(musical interlude)You've waited all this time But the sweetest thrill is the one you've yet to find Then you're starting to believe So long as it may seemWhen you've waited for so long To be where you are and where you're coming from An you gave it all so much In return for human love (In return for human love) In return for human love An all the pleasures that you'l find (you'll find) Don't expect a thrill like the blind leading the blind (blind leading the blind) To a world where you belong (you belong) For a moment then it's gone gone gone When you've waited for so long To be where you are and where you're coming from (yeah) An you gave it all so much In return for human love (In return for human love) In return for human love In return for human looooveLoooove When you've waited for so long To be where you are and where you're coming from (yeah) Then you gave it all so much In return for human love (In return for human love) In return for human loooove (In return for human love) In return for human loooove

Lyrics provided by http://www.1songlyrics.com/