Drawn (feat. Little Dragon)

De La Soul

Shadow you're drawn, why don't you go? In the corner babe watching the snow Moving afar, rolling away In the corner, believe, why won't you stay? Won't you stay babe? Won't you stay babe?Oh, I never know what come around I never looked ahead I'm wreckin' rules and it's pulling us down The words I wished I'd said Shadow you're drawn and you got your ways Shadow you're painted red, redMoving afar, rolling away In the corner, believe, why won't you stay? Won't you stay babe? Won't you stay babe? It's drawn, it's drawn It's drawn, it's drawn It's drawn, it's drawn It's drawn, it's drawn One, two Yo, I'm with the paper plate, hold Too many dreams, a paperweight took a toll Food on the floor, not on the wasted or knew Or what's being pasted and know that it's not a copy I own a prize instead of gas price Lyrically wonder why I travel past the nicest Born in a generation that don't generate patience I travel too fast for you to clock me (time) Not always a good thing You can lose the love of your life to a lifetime of love on tour I didn't mean to be a whore but my hormones Had me like a fiend screamin' "What you got for me?" Two words (I'm mortal) But the fans lift 'em both together and remove the apostrophe Hip hop's lords maybe but my ways needs laundering Time's a-ticking, stop squandering!
