Fine Print

Nadia Ali

I've been holding back I've been holding back I've been holding back I've been holding backYou're like a moving star I can't get close enough to you Been months I got your call Our falling out, we slipped right into You were an ace for me My crazy heart got hold of you Your hand called every bluff I had to fold and let it go Since I saw you last I've been holding back I figured I should Do just that I thought I'd crack But I smiled instead I'll let you Read the fine printI walk a line between The thoughts of now and where I've been Today the grass is green I've got it all, so why reminisce?I'm just a mermaid who is Not content with waveless oceans Sometimes a gusty wind Is what I need to feel again Since I saw you last I've been holding back I figured I should Do just that I thought I'd crack But I smiled instead I'll let you Read the fine printSince I saw you last I've been holding back I figured I should Do just that I thought I'd crack But I smiled instead I'll let you Read the fine printRead between the lines For what got left behind But I can't say, I'll hold it down The weight of seeing you nowI've been holding back

I've been holding back I've been holding back I've been holding backI've been holding back I thought I'd crack a thought I've been holding back I thought I'd crack But I smiled instead I'll let you Read the fine printSince I saw you last I've been holding back I figured I should Do just that I thought I'd crack But I smiled instead I'll let you Read the fine printSince I saw you last I've been holding back I figured I should Do just that I thought I'd crack But I smiled instead I'll let you Read the fine printI've been holding back Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by http://www.1songlyrics.com/