What Happened to My Radio?

Buck-O-Nine

Oh no, not again, please tell me, I'm wrong
It's been ten minutes since they played this song
Or is it the band with the one word name?
I get so confused, it all sounds the sameThe DJ must think I'm crazy
Or maybe just an idiot

Last week he was spinning country

Now alternative rock's the shitJust who do they think they're fooling

With this backwards regiment

They shove it so far down your throat

It's swallowed with an English accentWhat happened to my radio?

It used to be cool but now it just blows

What happened to my radio?

It's the same old song, the same old, same old

I've been waiting more than an hour

For the request that I just made

"We'll see what we can do about it"

Must mean, they're gonna throw awayThey say that they play new music

That it's better than the rest

Switch the channel, it's a carbon copy

Take the cutting edge and slit my wristsWhat happened to my radio?

It used to be cool but now it just blows

What happened to my radio?

It's the same old song, with the same old, same oldHappened to my radio?

Used to be cool but now it just blows

What happened to my radio?

Used to be cool but now it just blows

Who has all the luck? Who has all the fans?

They make a million bucks and burn it in your hands

Who has all the luck? Who has all the fans?

They tell you that you're fucked, but you don't understandWhat happened to my radio?

It used to be cool but now it just blows

What happened to my radio?

The same old song, with the same old, same oldWhat happened to my radio?

It used to be cool but now it just blows

What happened to my radio?

It's the same old song, with the same old, same old

Same old, same oldOh no, not again, please tell me, I'm wrong

It's been ten minutes since they played this song

Or is it the band with the one word name?

I get so confused, it all sounds the same

Lyrics provided by http://www.1songlyrics.com/