

Believer

Kill Hannah

It took 8 years just to realize
No one looks when we say goodbye
Dying just to survive
It feels like the first time
All the things that you set aside
All the friends that you leave behind
Just so the curtain will rise and it feels like the first time
Take this heart it's ticking like a cheap clock I need you to believe in me until there's nothing left of us
I need you to believe in me
Oh my god We are under the skyline
Through the sirens and flashing lights
You told me, "it's no use to try any more
Does it mean that much to you"
At that moment when time stops
All at once, see, the pressure drops
Way in the back of my teeth I knew
That we all could make it
Take this heart, it's ticking like a time bomb
And I'm not running any more!
I'll stand to face it all!
I'll fight for every breath until there's nothing left of us
I need you to believe in me
Oh my god
And I'm not running any more!
I'll stand to face it all!
I'll fight for every breath until there's nothing left of us!
I need you to believe in me
'Till there's nothing left of us
I need you to believe!
I need you to believe!

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>